

A two-story detached house with a traditional tiled roof and white walls. The house features a balcony on the upper floor with a dark railing. The ground floor has large glass doors and windows. The property is surrounded by greenery, including a large, rounded tree on the left and various shrubs. The sky is clear and blue.